Royalty's Line.
[Chicago Record.]

There are some of us fair readers who may be interested to learn how European royalty deals with such very domestic questions as laundering and linen.

The imperial family at Berlin, for instance, have all their washing done at the ordinary metropolitan laundries—a metropolitan laundry.

master which is a source of much annoyance to the Empress, for when she visited the Augusta Hospital the other day she was enthusiastic in her admiration of the laundry department of the establishment, and remarked that she would give anything to have something of the same kind fitted up at the palace.

"Yes, it is so. I am obliged to send all the washing, even that of the children, to be laundered in the city, which causes no end of inconvenience," the inference, I am sorry to say, being that

The members of the English royal family have all their linen laundered at a special establishment maintained for the purpose in the outskirts of London, near Hounslow, and no matter where they happen to be, whether at Balmoral or Osborne, the royal linen is dispatched thither. Public attention was drawn to this fact a few years ago by a strike of the employees, who complained of being under-paid. The work is, it must be confessed, most perfectly accomplished, and the bleaching is done in the open, six miles from London.

the permanent establishment of the Tulleries household for this purpose. At the English, Berlin, Viennese, Spanish and Russian courts all torn linen is at once withdrawn from use, stored away and distributed in immense quantities to the various hospitals and charitable institutions from time to time.

I may mention that at the Vatican the linen and clothing of the Holy Father are kept in a state of proper repair by a pious order of Sisters of Mercy, all of whom are of noble birth and known as the "Ladies of Reparation."

Over 80 miles of railroad will be in the hands of the people this Saturday and this is probably well enough in view of the very great difficulty experienced in the operation of those already built.

The Republicans have nominated Hon. John W. Lewis, of Springfield, for Congress in this district. He is said to be a very fine speaker and a good enough sort of man, having his bad politics, but he only imagines he is running for Congress. The next Congress from this district will be a Democrat.

HOPKINSVILLE is to have a hanging. Beverly Adams, a negro who murdered another negro named Campbell May the 16th, has been convicted of the crime and given the death sentence. The court has fixed September 14th as the day for the execution. The murder was a most atrocious one and it is not probable any further effort will be made for the life of the murderer.

The whole country seems to be overrun with criminals and not a day brings new stories of their outages. Never in the history of the country were so many deeds of mischief reported save when the clock of war had advanced the slaughter of men. From petty thieving to re-handled arsenals, a host of evils seem to break from their hiding in the hearts of criminals, to curse mankind. A few well executed sentences carried out just now would tend very greatly to clear up the moral and civil atmosphere.

EX-GOVERNOR J. PROCTOR KNOTT has decided to give the last years of his life to the cause of education, and with that end in view he will move to Danville and take charge of the department of Law to be added to the curriculum of Centre College. Governor Knott is a great man and a learned lawyer, and his efforts in aid of a thorough legal training for those who desire to make the law a profession will be of incalculable value to the State which has always been honored by the low and work of the brilliant ex-Governor.

We learn with pleasure that the recent meeting of the State Teachers' Association which met in Danville last week honored itself by elevating to its presidency no less an accomplished educator than Prof.
McHenry Rhoads, of Frankfort, Ky.
There is no more thoroughly competent or earnest man among the teachers of the State than Prof.
Rhoads, nor one who would bring more concentrated effort to bear upon the duties of the place he has assumed. We predict for the Association a year's work to be proud of its next meeting will be held at Lexington.

The Elizabethtown News is one of the few Democratic newspapers which is always on the alert for little inaccuracies like that corrected above. Being just an ordinary Republican misstatement of which the Republican press is so full, these reckless statements of the untrue are not much regarded by the people generally. The News says:

Mr. Cleveland did not get so many votes in 1892 as he did in 1888. It was the Populist alliance and not the Popular vote that gave him the victory.
His election was no verdict on the tariff. Louisville Commercial.

The congressional campaign in the Second district is reported to be a very dull one. The candidates, Dr. J. D. Clardy of Christian, and Messrs. Vance and McClain of Henderson, are all Democrats. It is said they do not seem to stir up much enthusiasm. It is probably well for the Democratic party that there is not so much heat over as characterizes the race in some of the districts of the State, for what with "Candy Sam" James and Tom Pettit's voice and E. T.

Frank's thunder and aerial readings to state, and the Cleveland demerit with which the Henderson experts of Democracy regard each other, there might arise some uncertainty after the election, as to just what the Democrats over there were "at."

ALAS for the price of oranges in a Republic like ours! It is not the public life of Mr. Cleveland been the theme for orators of not in the sheets which the oranges and afford a reading ground for the scan-dalizer, but the most delicate details of his domestic life have been invented by the scandalmonger who for the press. Not alone is his first born and only, baby Ruth, pronounced an idiot by these creatures, but his wife is made to be disloyal and his children are made to be disrespectful and disagreeable. His domestic relations are hawked about by every gutter-snipe and his personality picked to pieces by common sense and common decency.

It is a very fine speaker and a good enough sort of man, having

LIVERMORE, KY.
July 3, 1894.—Owing to the scarcity of rail cars a number have been sent to the Louisville and Nashville road and now there can hardly be said to have one-half of a crop of tobacco in this community. The fact that the good rain has since the first of May, Prof. W. A. Paye and wife have succeeded in securing the first of the season of which will likely exceed one thousand dollars. Prof. Paye is an old and experienced grower and the patron of Livermore will likely lose no small amount in failure to secure his services again. Prof. Paye and wife have been in the business taught successful terms of school ever since, the effects of which have inspired the enthusiasm which has made many young men and women have educated greatly the grand cause of education.

THE PREHISTORIC RACE

WHICH PEOPLED OLD KENTUCKY MANY YEARS AGO.

ABOUT MOUND-BUILDERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD: In your editorial column, you commented upon a statement attributed to me in reference to the age of the mound-building period in Kentucky, saying that had expressed the opinion that the mounds had elapsed since these people inhabited Kentucky. I made no such statement. I did say that it was as certain as any fact known to man that the mound-builders did some of their work in this State 500 years ago; that it was reasonably safe to say that some of their works were constructed a thousand years ago, and that it was probably 2,000 years ago that they first began the erection of their mounds, tombs and forts in this State. I was very careful to state that the erection of mounds was beyond five centuries.

With some care and a good deal of investigation I prepared a paper on the prehistoric men of Kentucky, because it was a subject extremely pleasing and attractive, and one which was of great interest to every man of education or culture.

Kentucky, Tennessee and Ohio contain the finest mounds and remains of this wonderful people. Ohio and Tennessee have been fairly well investigated and written up, while Kentucky has been practically neglected.

Hadenage, one of the most remarkable men who ever lived in this State, 70 years ago investigated these tombs, mounds and forts, and gathered many interesting details concerning them. He reported over a thousand of such remains as then known, but notwithstanding that Ohio's mounds and Tennessee's burial grounds have made these States famous in archeological history, Kentucky has been neglected.

In Europe, the caves of France and Switzerland have thrown a wonderful light on the past, and made no doubt, if scientific men in Kentucky will make careful investigation, equally surprising facts will be gathered from the ruins of the past.

The earliest days of the human race in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, that is, from about 2,000 years ago, have been the most interesting to me. I have been to the mounds in this State and put in proper place the data for some of the mounds which have been done both Ohio and Tennessee—put in place the accurate accounts of the mounds, and the achievements of the first people who inhabited this State. It is a fact that no man who has been anything of the kind in this subject will even attempt to deny, and the men of Kentucky who take an interest in all of its history should investigate all that remains of the mound-builders in this State and put in proper place the data for some of the mounds which have been done both Ohio and Tennessee—put in place the accurate accounts of the mounds, and the achievements of the first people who inhabited this State.

I hope to find letters from my law practice, during the summer, to open many mounds and to dig into the many fortifications and to dig into some of the numerous graves of the mound-builders now remaining in this State, and to place all the data which may be gathered at the disposal of any one who will put into permanent shape what may be discovered by the modern men and in the State.

Some of the graves and tablets, which are now in the hands of the mound-builders, are of great value and skill, and in some respects will put even the artifice of this State, with all the improvements of machinery, to the blush.

If the public only knew how much there is in store of these people, as there is in these implements, these tombs, these forts, and in these altars, they would encourage all those who are endeavoring to find these inadequate records to fill out the history of so wonderful a people.

The few facts I have been able to gather concerning this race have surprised and delighted all who have heard the story, and I have been able to find that the mound-builders in Kentucky were great traders, brave warriors, extensive travelers, successful agriculturists, and lived in towns, cultivated large fields of corn and tobacco, and in all respects, as far as the people of that age and period could be, are not unworthy of the place and a part in the history of this Commonwealth.
